

ROBERT SMITH

Machinist Apprentice-Temp

info@qwikresume.com | LinkedIn Profile | Qwikresume.com

Looking for a full-time or part-time position with a great company that offers a flexible schedule, yet a set in stone schedule. Quick learner who rises to the challenge of multi-tasking and displaying flexibility in various situations Confident with completing tasks and assisting others when needed, willing to start as soon as possible.

EXPERIENCE

Machinist Apprentice-Temp

ABC Corporation - SEPTEMBER 1985 - MAY 1989

- Produced components that were used by the navy for their nuclear propulsion units.
- Required to interpret written instructions and drawings to produce these components.
- Received training in mechanical and electrical maintenance of the equipment listed above.
- Reading blueprints, setting up and operating all of the above equipment to hold close tolerances.
- Reading of micrometers, verniers, dial calipers, and other associated measuring instruments.
- Comprehend and retain new and different procedures and operations.
- Designed and manufactured instrumentation and tools for research using CNC mills and lathes.

Machinist Apprentice

ABC Corporation - 1981 - 1985

- Trained from the ground up in all aspects of machining from manual to CNC machines, handwork, and multiple support machines to effectively create a finished product.
- Worked with numerous different materials to create parts including plastics, metals, and composites.
- Ranging from polycarbonate to gold.
- Held close tolerances, +or- .0003", over many challenging geometric forms.
- Rotated through many different shops doing different types of work for different customers gaining valuable experience in versatility.
- Attended classes on theory, mathematics, Geometric Tolerancing and Dimensioning, metallurgy, and support software packages.
- This is Dummy Description data, Replace with job description relevant to your current role.

EDUCATION

- English Composition II - (York College)

SKILLS

Teamwork, Coordination, Organization, Planning, Time Management, Technical.